

Innovation Network for Fusion Energy (INFUSE)

Date: November 22, 2019

Discussion on the INFUSE Website and SharePoint site

Any time.
Any place.
Any device.

Public Website

- Gateway into Innovation Network for Fusion Energy:
<https://infuse.ornl.gov/>
- Both the INFUSE Website and SharePoint site are hosted at ORNL.
- INFUSE or Fusion First? You might see references to Fusion First and INFUSE used interchangeably. INFUSE ultimately became the name of the program.
- Submission request requires an XCAMS account AND a “Infuse” XCAMS resource.
- Some might have an XCAMS account from the previous submission period; they will only need to get the “Infuse” XCAMS resource.

Submission Process

- Gateway into INFUSE submission:
<https://share.ornl.gov/sites/fusionfirst>
- Submitter requests XCAMS account + Infuse XCAMS resource
  - <https://xcams.ornl.gov/xcams/groups/fusionfirst>

OPEN RESEARCH COLLABORATION

NOTE: YOU WILL NOT BE ABLE TO LOG INTO THE SUBMISSION SITE UNTIL YOUR ACCOUNT HAS BEEN APPROVED.

DOE Laboratory Preference

If known, identify the National Laboratory you would like to collaborate with on the proposed RFA. If known, identify the first and last name of your contact at the preferred national laboratory or facility. The INFUSE program is limited to the 10 DOE laboratories in the list box below.

If a preferred facility or point of contact is unknown, DOE will identify the appropriate resources as part of the selection process. For additional information on available resources and capabilities, you may refer to the FESUser Facilities or at any of the DOE laboratory websites listed in the list box below.

Submission Process (Continued)

- Submissions reside in the Applications SharePoint library.
  - Submitters can only see their own items while in a “Saved” or “Withdrawn” application status. Once “Submitted” – permissions are removed for the Submitter.
  - Fusion First POCs can see all entries regardless of the application status.
- A new field was added this submission period for the uploading a “Record of Discussion.”
  - See supporting document for additional information before uploading RoD
- Once the submission date has expired, we transition into the Review Process.
